New Discovery Cures Eczema and Eradicates Minor Skin Troubles

A few months ago the dispensers of poslam, the new discovery for the cure of eczems, decided to allow the druggists of the country to handle it. Previous to that time it could only be obtained direct from the laborabeing more efficient.

Gold Dust, one of the first and the best examples of soap powder, can be used more economically than a soap, because the quantity desired can be measured out and no more used; while with a soap, the whole cake or a portion of it must be put into the water, wasting more than is really needed, and soaking the rest of the cake with water, which does not improve it. On the contrart, some soaps lose much of their goodness by leaving the unused part of the cake in water.

Even if only the amount of soap desired is "shaved" off, some time is required for dissolving it, while Gold Dust dissolves immediately, at the same time dissolving the hardline and other "salts," making the water as off as rain water and making a sweet, cleansing sude.

Mohammedan Serenity.

A Mohammedan people enjoy one great advantage over all others-they never suffer from the anticipation of that which is to come, and, as a natural result, they can always enjoy the present, although only a few hours may separate them from disaster, or even from death. Their implicit belief in an ordained future imparts a dignified repose and outward calm to all their actions. Thus in spite of the trials and troubles which threatened the state during my stay at Fez, a smooth surface of unchangeable seren ity veiled the inner thoughts of every individual, from the suttan to the negro at his gates.—Blackwood Maga-

When Men Become Free.

There is a time to come when goveruments will spring from the hearts of the people, and will be governments for the people. In that day all laws, all civil usages, all customs, will respect the interests of the community, and will not obstruct them. When men have perfect liberty, individually and collectively; when they are not only equal but free-free in the largest sense of the term "freedom"-then society itself will become a nursing mother.-Henry Ward Beecher.

Fraternal Tramps.

It is said that all tramps have a masonry of their own. I certainly be lieve it. They leave their signs on fence posts, stoops, sidewalks and trees. These signs are similar to those on Egyptian obelisks or Indian totem poles. Only the other day I threatened with death a veteran of the fraternity and told him to warn his craft not to annoy me, that I was a very dangerous man. The next day there were sundry chalk marks about the premises and have not seen a tramp since. And yet I have fed at least a thousand of these fellows and "watered" them, too. They are a good-natured lot. If I had more money than a mere stipend I'd hire the biggest bailroom in any New York hotel for Christmas and invite a thousand tramps to eat dinner with me and relate a few experiences.

Best Way to Be Useful.

To make oneself beloved, says an old French proverb, that is, after all, the best way to be useful. That is one of the deep sayings which children think flat, and which young men, and even young women, despise; and which a middle-aged man hears with a certain troubled surprise, and wonders if there is not something in it, after all; and which old people discover to be true, and think, with a sad regret of opportunities missed, and of years devoted, how unprofitably, to other kinds of usefulness! The truth is that most of us, who have any ambitions at all, do not start in life with the hope of being useful, but rather with an intention of being ornamental.-Arthur C. Benson, "Essay on Friendship."
